ETF Skills Lab Network of Experts

EN RLMM/ETF call for papers

Holistic approaches to observing youth transitions during times of disruption

Dear colleague,

We are pleased to inform you of the open call for papers "Holistic approaches to observing youth transitions during times of disruption".

Anthologies are annual publications produced every year by the European Network on Regional Labour Market Monitoring (EN RLMM). This year the EN RLMM and the ETF have partnered to offer all their members the unique opportunity to contribute to the 2027 Anthology, and the call for papers is open to all Skills Lab and EN RLMM members.

The 2027 Anthology will showcase the link between effective monitoring and successful policy interventions focusing on transitions into work and labour market opportunities for young people.

The linked call for papers aims to select papers to be featured in the 2027 Anthology, which will be presented at a dedicated conference in September 2027. More information on the call for papers, including guidelines on length and topics, can be found at this link.

Researchers interested in submitting their abstracts can do so by 1 December 2026. Submissions can be made via email to the dedicated address ETFSkillslab@etf.europa.eu.

Are you interested in topics related to youth and skills? Consider becoming a member of our new thematic community on Graduate tracking and school-to-work transition. Reply to this email so we can add you to the mailing list.

Kind regards,

The ETF Skills Lab Network of Experts team

You may unsubscribe or change your contact details at any time.